Ojail is not only renowned for his exquisite concepts and his majestic signature portals that grant access to his exclusive interiors, but also for his unequalled talent of blending different materials, textures and elements that less bolder designers would not attempt to combine. With Ojail, the outcome is daringly magnificent.

This designer and architect is always striving to take his work to a higher level as he seeks perfection through the application of his unique talents and his keen eyesight for the extraordinary.

OCC's offices are yet another work of art in themselves. The state-of-the-art facilities boast a fabric room containing the latest international market has to offer, an interior design lab, an architecture lab, and an audio/visual lab displaying an extensively wide array of high-quality samples.

Costa Boda, DK Home, Eichholtz Mise En Demeure, FS Home collection, Poldermans, Pieter Porters Collection, B&O (Bang & Olufsen), Fink Silverware as well as special custom-made orders ... these rooms have it all; a lavish interior as well as material. And you don't have to go anywhere to look for the right color of wood, or the perfect fabric for your furniture – the walls of OCC aptly encase a wealth of the most refined and exceptional materials.

But it doesn't end there. OCC is a haven for design lovers and makes for a satisfying trip for clients who want the very best but don't have the time to follow-up on the nitty gritty details of their project.

"Since my clients know exactly what they seek, perfection and magic are the next big thing in their dream come true projects. And I know that they won't settle for less", says Ojail.

This is where Ojail's OCC can make the difference. "We work on each residential and commercial project in its entirety as we perfect every aspect down to the last detail. All that the client has to do is walk into their finished project and enjoy a unique masterpiece that surpasses their expectations."

Throughout a long list of projects in Lebanon, the GCC, North Africa, and Europe, Ojail combines comfort with class, and luxury with style, as he continues to realize the expectations that go hand-in-hand with his brand name by means of skill and a perseverance rarely found within the world of design.

Ojail primarily concentrates on VIP villas and palaces, concept shops as well as recreational facilities, corporate headquarters and luxurious residential apartments, and seeks to add a lavishly unique touch to each and every project.

Located in the heart of Beirut, OCC beats in harmony with this most creative of cities. Supported by offices in Europe and a large office in Saudi Arabia, OCC prides itself with a services portfolio that caters to just about any type of client. And by continuously being at the forefront of market trends, along with large team of the most inventive of talents, OCC is able to wow.

Ojail also runs a gallery where he sells exclusive, antique items rare to find anywhere else, while his new OCC LAB in Beirut offers the latest designs and custom-made furnitures and accessories—all of which are produced in-house.

The main concept is to create a fascinating mood in a harmonious space as well as to meet the desires of clients. Ojail believes that each element of design is only a piece of the puzzle, and that it is only when the pieces are combined that you can create a masterpiece.

Asked if he would ever stop having his hands on every detail of the process, Ojail asserts that if you seek perfection, you cannot but be in control of every element that makes the bigger picture. "I am never satisfied unless I work on each detail from sketches to development and fusion of ideas. It's a constant challenge that provides me with tremendous joy and satisfaction. I'm passionate about details and I love seeing the client's face as they walk into the house that I have created and worked on, hands on," he adds proudly.
